

WELCOME PACK CHECKLIST

Providing the right information for your new starter will help them feel comfortable and confident when they join the organisation on their start date. This checklist is based on what information 16–24 year olds said they would like to receive before they start in a new role.

Using the checklist below, work with the new starter's manager to decide which elements of the checklist they will collate and which parts the HR or recruitment team will be responsible for.

Document/information	HR	Manager
Conditional offer letter – see our template letters
Equal opportunities monitoring form
Two copies of contract (one to be returned, one for their records) with a summary sheet of key information such as rate of pay, pay date, holiday entitlement, working hours
Map and directions to organisation, including specific department details
A copy of the job description, person specification and any other relevant information about the scope of the role
Information about the organisation – Including the range of services and care it offers, the trust values and information about the senior team

Document/information	HR	Manager
Information about the NHS pension scheme and auto enrolment
A list of staff benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– For example, flexible benefits packages, health and wellbeing initiatives, NHS discounts</li> </ul>
Organisational policies that may be relevant for the new starter <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– For example, confidentiality policy, social media policy, information about the acceptable use of IT and mobile phones</li> </ul>
Information on employment checks requirements <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– Read the ThinkFuture guidance on employment checks [link to follow] to understand why these are required</li> </ul>
A copy of the new starter's team structure
Induction plan for first day or week <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– See the ThinkFuture manager's checklist – bringing young people on board for suggestions of what you might want to include in your new starter's first day</li> </ul>
The ThinkFuture jargon buster document <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– This document helps to explain some of the terms in standard contract documents</li> </ul>
Information regarding hours <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– It may be helpful to provide a rota for their first week if they are working shifts, or let them know when they can expect to receive this</li> </ul>
Uniform and dress code information <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– If there is a uniform, include information about where can they get it from and if not, what is the dress code for the team they will be working in</li> </ul>
General information about the site they will be working on <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– For example, catering facilities, car parking availability and cost, local public transport links</li> </ul>		